WILL HEAR CLAIM OF MAIL CLERKS

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Demands for increases in wages by the railway clerks' organization involving thirty-five class one carriers and subsidiaries will be heard November 23, the United States railroad labor board announced today.

Members of this organization received pay reductions of from three to four cents an hour by the labor board's decision effective July 1, last. Along with the shop crafts and maintenance of way section the clerks polled a vote to strike in protest against the reduction but E.H. Fitzgerald, president of the clerks' organization later announced he would follow the policy of the maintenance of way organization and withhold strike action pending further conferences with the railroad management. Recently the organization filed submissions asking for increased and setting forth that the union was unable to reach agreement with the carriers after conferences, the board being asked to fix a date for a hearing.

PRESIDENT CALLS CONGRESS TO MEET IN EXTRA SESSION

Will Convene November 20, Just Two Weeks Before Regular Session

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—President Harding tonight called Congress to meet in extra session at 12 o'clock noon on the twentieth day of November. The call declared the extra session was made necessary by public interests. The text of the proclamation follows:

"Whereas, Public interests require that the congress of the United States should be convened in extra session at 12 o'clock noon on the twentieth day of November, Nineteen Twenty Two to receive such communications as may be made by the executive:

"Now, Therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary session of the United States Congress of the United States to convene in extra session at the Capitol in the City of Washington on the Twentieth Day of November, 1922, at 12 o'clock noon of which all persons who shall at that time be entitled to act as members thereof hereby are requested to take notice.

"In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington, this Ninth Day of November in the Year of Our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty Two and of the Independence of the United States, the One Hundred and Forty Seventh.

"WARREN G. HARDING."

Announcement that the call would be issued either today or tomorrow had been made early this week from the White House and prior to that statements made by congressional leaders after conferences with the President indicated that the executive had practically made up his mind to convene congress in special session also the call would not be sent out until after the election.

The call of the special session two weeks in advance of the regular meeting has been approved generally by Republican leaders in congress who have felt that by getting an earlier start on legislation that would be afforded by the regular session practically all important bills including the appropriation measures could be disposed of by next March 4 when the sixty seventh congress must adjourn sine die.

DRYS AND WETS CLAIM VICTORY IN ELECTION

Both Sides Claim Majority in Personnel of New Congress

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The political complexion of the next congress having been definitely established interested today in the probable lineup on the question of modification of the prohibition enforcement laws.

Both the "drys" and "wets" were claiming a victory as a result of Tuesday's elections.

For the anti-Saloon League, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel said the "wets" would not have as many votes by three at least in the senate as heretofore and that their strength in the house would not exceed 140 or 78 less than a majority.

On the other hand, the association against prohibition amendment thru G. C. Hinckley, its general secretary claimed a gain of eighty "liberal" votes in the house which, it was asserted would give actual control of that body to the modificationists.

"Involved in this view," Mr. Hinckley's statement said, "is a consideration of the change in leadership of the powerful committees in the house. The defeat of Andrew J. Volstead of Minnesota removes the author of the objectionable prohibition act from the chairmanship of the house judiciary committee giving the place over to representative Graham of Pennsylvania and avowed the 'wet'."

The passing of Mondell leaves the majority leadership on the floor either to Representative Longworth of Ohio, or Representative Mann of Illinois both re-elected and both having been endorsed by the association because of their attitude on the prohibition issue.

Mr. Wheeler, in his statement, declared the claims of the association against the prohibition amendment of a gain of 80 votes in the next house was "like the foam on a glass of beer—nothing substantial to it."

"In the house," said Mr. Wheeler, "their total vote in the past for any beer or light wine amendment or similar weakening amendment to the national prohibition act was not more than 135. The last reports we have from the state with a few districts out, show that they will never muster 140 votes for any such amendment. Their vote will probably be much less than that."

"The only real test of sentiment on the 275 percent beer issue this year was in Ohio, where the proposal was defeated by more than 150,000. In Illinois the organized 'dry' forces did not vote either way on the beer proposal."

WANT EXPERT TO BE SENT BY U. S.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—In accepting the American claim to equal participation with the allied powers in German payments on account of forces maintained in the Rhine the allied governments have proposed that an American expert be sent to Paris to confer as to ways and means of such participation.

From the allied viewpoint, the problem of meeting the American claim which is over $254,000,000 is complicated by the fact that in large measure payments already received and disbursed for the maintenance of the troops on the Rhine have been made by Germany largely in kind, cattle, building materials and similar commodities having been turned over instead of cash.

TRIAL OF MEN IN HERRIN SLAYINGS TO BEGIN MONDAY

Judge Hartwell Adjudges Court—Overrules Motion

(By The Associated Press)
MARION, Ill., Nov. 9.—The venire from which the jury will be chosen to try the five defendants charged with murder in connection with the Herrin mine killings returned home today to await the re-convening of court next Monday. In the meantime the little courtroom of the Williamson county court will be remodeled to provide space for the many attorneys and the hundreds of witnesses and spectators.

Court was adjourned by Judge D. T. Hartwell after he had overruled the last motion of the defense attacking the legality of the many indictments issued in connection with the Herrin mine killings. Attorneys for the defense contended the grand jurors had not been selected as provided by law, that the grand jurors had not been summoned in a legal way and that the grand jurors had been influenced during the investigation by the presence in the grand jury room of too many attorneys and also by statements printed in newspapers.

Selection of the jury is expected to consume probably two weeks or more owing to the general tendency of the venire to offer excuses for releases from jury service.

Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Mine Workers who is attending the trial here, issued a statement today commenting on the overwhelming victory of Sheriff Melvin Thaxton, who was elected county treasurer by a majority far exceeding that of the other Republican candidates. The sheriff had been criticized for his attitude before and during the troublesome days last June.

"The people of Williamson county," said Farrington, "have rendered a verdict in favor of a fair trial for every miner indicted in connection with the Herrin mine killings."

SITUATION IN CONSTANTINOPLE STILL UNKNOWN

London Was Without Any News at a Late Hour Last Night

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 9.—London late tonight still was without news from Constantinople but the cable company whose lines have been cut in the Turkish area held out hopes that communication might be restored to morrow.

The government also appeared to have had very little wireless communication with Constantinople and Premier Bonar Law at Lord Mayor's banquet in the Guild Hall tonight was unable to throw any further light on the situation in Turkey. The government knows nothing concerning the whereabouts of the deposed Sultan except that he has not taken refuge, as has been reported, on a British warship. Official circles point out that this situation is almost an exact counterpart of that which arose from the Crank crisis with the important defense as emphasized by Mr. Bonar Law tonight that there now is no question of isolated action by the powers who are all working in agreement.

Ismet Pasha, the foreign minister of the Turkish Nationalist government is known to be in Constantinople waiting to go to the near east conference at Lausanne as soon as the date for the meeting is settled. Altho the British government maintains the opinion that the change of complexion of affairs necessitates a postponement of the date it is willing to drop the delay in convening the conference shall be as brief as possible and hopes it will be able to meet by November 20.

FRENCH PREMIER SAYS FRANCE WILL ACT INDEPENDENTLY

Compelled to if Conference Fails to Give Satisfaction

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, Nov. 9.—Premier Poincare told the senate this evening that the French government had decided to act alone with respect to Germany if the Brussels conference failed to give France satisfaction. He expressed the opinion that no general settlement of the reparations problem was possible unless the question of interallied debts was solved at the same time.

"France is not imperialistic," he declared. "I can say that she is the least imperialistic of nations, but she has rights to defend. We do not contemplate any personal action before the Brussels conference but if we do not obtain satisfaction there is no thing in the world that can prevent us from acting alone in the fullness of our rights."

"There is not one Frenchman who doubts the solidity of France and no foreigner has the right to doubt it."

The premier rejected the idea of establishing a customs barrier along the Rhine for the benefit of the allies, on the ground that it would result simply in turning traffic in other directions.

The question of restoring to compulsion against Germany to force her to exercise her obligations will be taken up at the Brussels conference he said. The premier was replying to Senator Hubert who asserted the occupation of at least part of the Ruhr district was indispensable to bring the heads of German industry to a reasonable attitude on the execution of the Versailles treaty and the payment of German reparations.

A customs barrier on the Rhine established by France alone, the premier thought would be ineffective while the taking of pledges by France alone would be far less potent than if the allies acted together. But the government had refused satisfaction on every point, insisting upon a moratorium without guarantee.

Germany Continues to Profit: German industry had continued to profit from the depreciation of the mark but finally it was realizing that it was likely to become the victim of its own misdeeds.

"The catastrophe to the mark," he added, "shows how right France was to resist those who wanted to lead her to inflation. We can reject the deceptive comparisons which certain foreign speculators aim to make between the monetary situations in France and Germany. There is no reason to have any doubt about France. The representatives of the people have not hesitated to impose heavy sacrifices on the people; no Frenchman, doubts, no foreigner has the right to doubt her."

The question of whether the allies will consent to proceed with measures of compulsion against Germany will finally be considered at Brussels, the premier continued. Germany thus far had confined herself to dilatory tactics while making audacious pretensions.

The allies must decide once for all the policy they intend to adopt toward her.

"Lord Curzon has promised us the support of the new government," said Mr. Poincare in conclusion, "and we are always ready to press a cordial hand extended us. We count on the friendship of Great Britain as we may count on the friendship of France."

Superintendent of Schools Vasconcellos should hope that no competent woman soon becomes a candidate for school superintendency in this county. They are hard to beat in such contests, as has just been demonstrated in McLean county, where Mrs. Nellie Bement has been chosen superintendent.

It is unfortunate that the proposal to levy a special tax for the maintenance of the tuberculosis sanatorium did not receive four more votes. That would have been sufficient to give the commissioners authority for the proposed tax levy.

At any rate, the vote clearly indicated that thousands of people in this county favor the furnishing of funds for the proper operation of the sanatorium.

Hon. Henry T. Rainey "came back" with a vengeance in this congressional district, as he is credited with carrying every county in it. It will be unfortunate if Mr. Rainey must begin all over again in the matter of seniority committee appointments, for he had been long enough in congress to warrant his representing his party on one of the important committees.

Returning coming in from the election in the various states are now making plain how quickly the political pendulum has swung back. Two years ago there was a Republican land slide of overwhelming volume. The election Tuesday was not a complete reversal, but came uncomfortably near it. The demand for changes is attributable in part to dissatisfaction over business conditions, which are just now beginning to improve.

With still better prices in sight, Republicans can look forward hopefully to some reaction from this year's election.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

No Use At All

By Berton Braley

I STARTED out in my career
To "get the money" while I could.
For though the poets scoff and sneer,
To have a bunch of kads is good.
And in life's swift and busy whirl,
I gathered jack with all my skill.
But failed to win me any girl,
And what is "jack" without a Jill?

WHAT though my balance at the bank
Be beautiful to gaze upon,
I find my life is bleak and blank
Without a girl to spend it on.
So though I toiled with all my might
To put the cold cash in my till,
I find my work is wasted, quite,
For what is "jack" without a Jill?

PUT money in your purse; 'twill give
The laugh to want and hunger dread.
It makes things brighter while you live
And pays to plant you when you're dead.
But having money lacks in life,
It brings no fun, no joyous thrill.
Without a girl to share it with, coal any more. Coal will be burned underground, right where it is found, and the byproducts utilized.
For what is "jack" without a Jill?

"Probably we'll utilize all the gas, too, for heat, light and power. Some of the heat can be utilized, too, where it is generated under the ground. What heat is wasted by this method won't be nearly as important as the waste of human energy which results from our present method of mining coal, and the waste involved in transporting and distributing it."

Just how Ford would work this dream out in a practical way, he doesn't say. But it is possible. Then, too, Ford has become an enthusiast about "white coal"—water power.

He sees the day when even drops of rain will be transformed into electricity.

He says the power going to waste in rain can be estimated by a locality's inches of annual rainfall and the distance the rain drops in making its eventual way back to sea-level. Part of this power unquestionably could be chained up.

Ford proposes: "Collect the water on flat lands during the winter. Drain it off as water power during the spring. And in the summer you'll have wonderfully fertile land for your crops. In the autumn, after harvest, let the water collect again."

The latest dream of Ford's results from a trip he made the other day into a coal mine. He went about three miles underground and found it "a terrible place to be in, no fit place for human beings to work."

More than half a million Americans toil underground to get coal. In other words, to get power. Meantime, tremendous power is going to waste in falling water, in the ocean tides, in the wind, in the sun's heat. All these will be harnessed some day. Nature has placed unlimited power at our disposal. Human drudgery will end when we learn how to harness these natural forces.

Harnessing them is a long, slow job. But it'll come. Nature gives us what we need. Her price is constant toil and patience. End of the road is far off, but it'll be worth the journey, for humanity.

What Is a Fine Watch? Nine out of ten persons would reply at once, "Why, one that is reliable."

Yes, that's true. But what causes one watch to be considered "reliable" under all circumstances and another that is the same in appearance to be absolutely undependable.

A cheap watch necessarily is made of inferior materials, has none of the refinements of workmanship that make for accuracy, little time can be spent in its adjustments, and because of these facts its parts soon become worn and the watch not dependable—worthless.

A "fine watch" need not necessarily be expensive to be an accurate and reliable time-keeper. But its principal parts—"the works", must be of material that is hard enough to resist wear; they must be accurate, and finely polished, the jeweled bearings must be exact. This work takes time and requires skilled and highly trained, highly paid workmen.

A "fine watch" costs more because of the material entering into its make up and the time required to produce it, but it's worth it because dependable. A person may pay a fabulous price for a watch and have no more faithful time-keeper than a "standard." He has satisfied a desire for a rich and jewel-studded outer case. The matter of a case is personal.

We shall be glad to talk watches with you, and to show you guaranteed, reliable time-keepers at moderate prices.

Remember the story of the father who gave his son paper, pen and ink, locking him in a huge library and told him to write a great poem. The boy had all the material but lacked imagination.

Beautiful all-wool fabrics are of little value until, by the wizardry of the tailor's needle, they are fashioned into a stylish garment.

It is this extraordinary skill, this imagination—if you please—that has made the Stratford Clothes above and apart from the usual in clothes. Small wonder that they are termed by young men of better dress "The Style Clothes of America."

White-of-Egg

In Calumet a Vital Element Most Baking Powders Lack

Don't use a leavener that does not contain white-of-egg. When you do you take chances—you run the risk of spoiling your bakings.

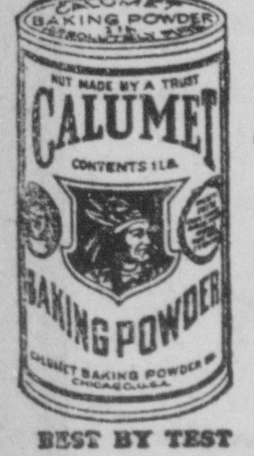

CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

contains a small amount of white-of-egg. This makes it possible for representatives of the company to test it frequently for leavening strength—right on the dealer's counter. Nothing but absolutely fresh stock is permitted to remain on the dealers' shelves. It must always be up to the high Calumet standard.

Remember the white-of-egg in Calumet protects the success of your bakings. It is the economical positive bake-day aid and its sale is 2½ times as much as that of any other brand.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

MISSIONARY TEA IS GIVEN IN WOODSON

Missionary Society of Christian Church Gave Interesting Program at Home of Mrs. J. T. Self—Other Woodson News.

Woodson, Nov. 9.—The Missionary society of the Woodson Christian church gave a missionary tea Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. T. Self. This was also the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the society and especial interest was added to the occasion.

Mrs. Edward Gallagher, one of the charter members, happened to have the minutes of the first society and she was called upon by Mrs. Jones, the leader of the afternoon, to read these minutes. Mrs. George H. Harney of Jacksonville, who was the first president of the society, was also present and made a very nice talk.

The program included the following:

Song—Society.

Prayer—Mrs. Edward Gallagher.

Scripture Lesson—Rev. I. H. Fuller.

Paper, "Africa, Its Conditions and Its Needs,"—Mrs. I. H. Fuller.

Reading, "The Skeptic's Daughter,"—Mrs. Earl Hemmigh.

Vocal Solo, "My Prayer"—Miss Eloise Self, with Mrs. J. T. Self as accompanist.

Reading, "The Complete World,"—Mrs. Bert Spahnower.

Benediction.

A silver offering was taken during the afternoon and quite a substantial sum was contributed. At the close of the program came a very enjoyable social hour, when refreshments were served. Among the guests were Mrs. Mary Owings, Mrs. Edgar Arnold, Mrs. B. R. Bishop, Mrs. George H. Harney. One new member, Mrs. Mary Owings, was taken into the society.

W. G. McADOO GETS IN HEADLINES OF THE NEWSPAPERS

Former Treasury Official Must Have Forgotten Election of 1920

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 9.—Republican leaders failed to interpret correctly the sentiment and opinion of the country and their party "sustained one of the most extraordinary political defeats in the history of the nation," W. G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury said in a statement issued late today.

The statement said in part: "The Republican party has sustained one of the most extraordinary political defeats in the history of the nation."

"The administration has given us a wholly materialistic and soulless America. It has been devoid of political morality, as evidenced by its wholehearted support of the seating of Newberry. It has made no appeal to the conscience and spiritual forces of the nation. This is serious enough but its policies have been equally mistaken. The Fordney-McCumber tariff bill is indefensible; the new income tax law was a discrimination against the great body of tax payers for the benefit of the favored few. Its callous disregard for the interests of the farmer, the laboring man and of the great mass of consumers was in glaring contrast to favoritism to the trusts and powerful interests who have dominated its policies and consistently controlled its action. Its hopeless and uninspiring theory of Americanization has caused grave injury to our material interests and material influence.

"Perhaps the new congress may be able to force upon the administration an intelligent comprehension of the grave problems that confront the nation and compel remedial and progressive legislation that will set us again on the road to prosperity."

TWO ADDRESSES MADE AT KIWANIS LUNCHEON

At the Thursday luncheon of the Kiwanis club at the Peacock Inn addresses were made by Dr. Charles L. Mix and E. T. Applegate of Chicago. Dr. Mix was in Jacksonville as a guest of the Kiwanis association, and the Morgan County Medical society.

The fact that he is professor of clinical medicine in Northwestern University Medical School and is a physician of wide renown added to the interest of his address.

Mr. Applegate is a representative of the Corn Products Refining Co. and presented some very interesting facts which served to make clear the enormous volume of business done by the Corn Products Co. and the importance of its relation to the farming industry.

Dr. W. P. Duncan was introduced as a new member of the club. Attendance prizes were awarded to W. A. Fay and Charles E. Williamson. President Felix E. Farrell announced the appointment of the following committees:

ECONOMY in REPAIRS

You pay more when you shop around for small repairs. Why?

Its just like when you go to a competent physician. He has to first make a complete examination of all your working parts to get a thorough knowledge of the general condition.

If we carry force enough to give every customer prompt service for two hours during the 24 you have to pay for the extra idle time.

Old Age and Glasses

The gradual decrease of ocular power which accompanies old age should not be considered contrary to nature any more than it is for the hair to turn gray, the teeth to become defective, or the muscles to weaken.

Besides as age advances, the other physical faculties are apt to be used less and less, and the eyes more and more.

Artificial aid is therefore to be expected and should always be resorted to at the first indication of failing eyesight. Call and let us fit you with the glasses your eyes require.

COACH IS AT MERCY OF HIS PLAYERS

Mistakes By the Club Will Undo All the Mentors Instructions.

By Billy Evans

Just before the game between Michigan and Ohio State I was discussing the chances of Michigan with Coach Yost and his assistant, George Little.

"Michigan had a good team," said Yost. "It is green and inexperienced in spots, but it has plenty of power."

"I have two great ends in Kirke and Goebel. If they do their part and my line is able to hold State the backfield will do the rest."

"The boys know how football should be played. However, with a half dozen great men making their debut in a big game, something may happen."

"Often the strain causes an inexperienced player to forget much of what the coaches have told him."

In the game with State the Michigan line did its part and the work of Goebel and Kirke on the ends featured. The backfield did its best, as Yost said they would. Michigan won, 19 to 0.

Princeton Was Game Just before the Princeton game with Chicago I discussed with Coach Bill Roper of Princeton the chances of the Tigers to wipe out the defeat of 1921.

"My team is green and light, but it is game. It will fight to the end. Like all Princeton teams it is never defeated until the whistle has blown."

"The lack of experience may be fatal. In practice a coach can expound the theories of the game to his players, he can tutor them in every trick of the trade, but when the game starts it is up to the players."

"When the whistle blows the team can make or unmake a coach with a very few plays. I am hoping for the best, confident of one thing, my team will fight to a finish."

Mistakes Proved Costly The game had been in progress only a few minutes when the words of Coach Roper were brought back to me in a most forcible manner.

After the game had been under way only a few minutes Strohmeyer of Chicago kicked to Gorman on Princeton's 45-yard line. Gorman handled the ball close to the sidelines. He worked himself out of bounds after the tackle. The official, however, ruled that the ball was downed inside the line.

The ball was put in play on the 45-yard line about a foot from the sideline. Gorman, by trying to go out of bounds when tackled so as to have the ball brought in 15 yards and he in a position to kick, showed he had his head up.

Three Plays Went Wrong It seemed certain that he would try to go out of bounds on the next play. But he didn't. Then came three plays that caused Roper to pace up and down the sidelines like a wild man. No one blamed him either.

On a fake pass Cleaves lost 15 yards. Both teams were offside and the ball was brought back. Cleaves made four yards, but Princeton was offside and was penalized five yards. A pass, Cleaves to Snively, lost 12 yards. Instead of being out of danger Princeton was on the Tiger 30-yard line and forced to kick.

Chicago got possession of the ball on its 35-yard line and in nine plays scored a touchdown. Bad judgment had gotten the Tigers off wrong in the first few minutes of play.

Blocked Punt Makes Trouble In the second period, after the Tigers had forged ahead, 7 to 6, King of Chicago kicked off to Cleaves, who brought the ball back 25 yards to Princeton's 30-yard line. Three plays gained only five yards.

Coach Roper at this stage rushed Van Gerbig, star Princeton punter, into the fray to boot the ball out of danger.

The ball was passed to Van Gerbig. He seemed to fairly fondle it. Never was a kick gotten off more glowily. It was partly blocked after traveling only two yards when it went out of bounds.

It was Chicago's ball on Princeton's 22-yard line. Five plays sent it over for a touchdown.

Coach Roper of Princeton was like a caged lion at this stage and no one blamed him. His players had failed to follow instructions, to play proper football. All of which proves that the coach can drill his team in the fundamentals and tricks, but when the whistle blows it is entirely up to the players.

JACKSONVILLE TO MEET SPRINGFIELD

Ancient Foe Will Be Tackled at Springfield Armistice Day—Capital City Fans Are All Agog Over Contest.

Perhaps the most important high school football game in this section is that between Jacksonville high and Springfield high to be played at the Capital City Saturday afternoon.

The students of both schools are in a high state of excitement over the battle and no doubt a record breaking crowd will be present when the whistle blows to start hostilities.

Springfield and Jacksonville are ancient rivals, as the schools have been meeting ever since football became a part of high school sports. In the old days before there was much regulation of sports by the faculty the schools played two games each season.

In recent years the schools have not kept in constant athletic relationship and some times several years passed with the athletic teams not meeting in any branch of sport. However, the schools have again established relations and it is the hope of the students that when the present agreement with Western Military academy expires, that the schools will reach an agreement to meet on Thanksgiving day each year.

Last year Springfield came down to Jacksonville and lost a brilliant and hard fought game to the locals on Illinois field by a score of 7 to 6. The Capital City lads are hoping to get revenge this year while the locals are hoping to repeat the dose.

Jacksonville with the exception of the Alton game has been going strong this season and has one of the best teams in this section. Springfield after getting away to a poor start has suddenly developed form and has been winning its recent games.

There is no doubt but that the Baird squad has improved greatly in the past few weeks. The same also is true of Coach Mitchell's squad and the game Saturday should show some of the best high school football of the year.

Coach Mitchell has been giving his men a strenuous workout for the contest and when they trot out on the Springfield gridiron Saturday afternoon they will be prepared to give the best they have. If the men play true to form they should bring home the bacon. Whichever way it goes fans will see a real football game between two of the best high schools in this section of the state.

If weather conditions are favorable almost the entire student body of the local school will be in Springfield for the game. Many other football fans also will drive over to witness the game.

Chicago Has Real Star in Thomas

By BILLY EVANS.

John Thomas of the University of Chicago is the best plunging back I have seen in years.

The much abused and also used title of the human battering ram certainly applies to Thomas.

Against Princeton John Thomas scored three touchdowns, all of the points made by Chicago. True he received much needed aid from his line, which opened up the holes, but to Thomas must go most of the credit.

Coach Stagg of Chicago uses Thomas in football much as does a baseball manager use a batter known for his pinch hitting ability. Thomas is the man invariably used by Chicago when it is in striking distance of the opposition's goal.

Man Hard to Tackle. Thomas runs low and fast, is a hard man to tackle, and has the faculty of shaking off tackler after tackler who seem certain to bring him down.

Thomas, after all, is only human. That was proved when in the final minutes of play and only seven yards to go and first down the Princeton line held against the Chicago demon buckner and took the ball on downs.

A glance at the statistics of the Princeton-Chicago game will give you some idea of what a remarkable man John Thomas really is.

Chicago's first touchdown was the result of nine plays in which Thomas carried the ball eight times. About 60 yards were made in the nine plays and Thomas accounted for about 55 yards himself. Most of the plays were directed against Snively, the Princeton guard.

In making the second touchdown, Chicago carried the ball about 30 yards in five plays. Thomas handled the ball in four of the five plays and made most of the distance.

At this stage of the game, which was near the close of the second period, Stagg took his pinch buckner out of the game and sent him to the dressing room to rest up.

In the third period Chicago gained possession of the ball on Princeton's 28-yard line. Once more Chicago was in position to score.

John Thomas, who had been sitting on the side lines next to Coach Stagg, was seen to hurriedly pull off his sweater and rush onto the field.

With Thomas back in the game Chicago immediately perked up and in a few plays the star of the Chicago back field had been pushed across the line for Chicago's third touchdown.

Thomas is Real Star.

John Thomas is unquestionably one of the best backs the west has produced in years. He must be given much consideration when selecting an all-star team from the east or west.

There are some critics who argue that Thomas seldom plays the entire game. As a matter of fact, no human being could do the things that Thomas does and go the route.

Thomas is so valuable a player that Coach Stagg uses him to best suit his plans. He yanks him when things look safe and rushes him into the fray when danger is imminent.

Thomas is the ace of the Chicago eleven. Chicago is a different team with him in the game. He is the big punch. Coach Stagg realizes this and conserves his strength whenever possible.

BRADLEY PREPARES REMAINING GAMES

Expects Hard Tussle with Augustana, Lake Forest and Eureka—Cripples Are Recovering.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 9.—Elated over the Wesleyan victory last week and the recovery of the crippled squad Coach Robertson began laying plans this week for what is expected to be a strenuous finish to the season's grid program.

With Augustana on the board Saturday at Rock Island and three other games with Lake Forest, Carthage and Eureka coming on, the pathway to the state title is no chink. At least that is what Robertson is drumming into his pupils nightly.

All the cripples including Bunny Gross, fleet Kansas halfback, Captain Babcock, fullback, and Allen and Rogers, ends, will be ready for the fracas Saturday. Correll, halfback had several ribs torn loose in the Wesleyan game but will probably see action against the Augies.

Bradley officials planned to erect four hundred new box seats before the next home contest with Lake Forest Nov. 18, as a result of the overflow crowd of 4,000 which attended the homecoming last Saturday. The capacity of Bradley field is now estimated at 3,500.

Bradley has won five games thus far this season and tied one. The victims were Lincoln, Illinois, Normal, Wesleyan and St. Viators while Lombard was held to a 6 to 6 deadlock. All of the Tech's opponents this year are members of the I. I. A. C.

HORSESHOE PITCHING GAINS IN FAVOR

Horseshoe pitching is developing into an all-year major sport. In the north it goes big during the summer months. In the south it holds away from November until May.

St. Petersburg, Fla., which stages a national tournament each year, will soon have the finest horseshoe pitching courts in the world.

Forty-eight "barnyard golf" lanes are being laid out in Waterfront Park, situated in the shores of Tampa Bay. Giant palms have been planted alongside the courts which will serve as a protection against the sub-tropical mid-winter sun.

St. Petersburg is spending $10,000 in laying out the new playgrounds for its winter visitors. A clubhouse of oriental design is being erected for the use of the horseshoe devotees.

The lanes are 40 feet in length and the pegs are Ford axles buried in concrete blocks and sunk in to the ground. Eight inches of the peg protrude above the sand.

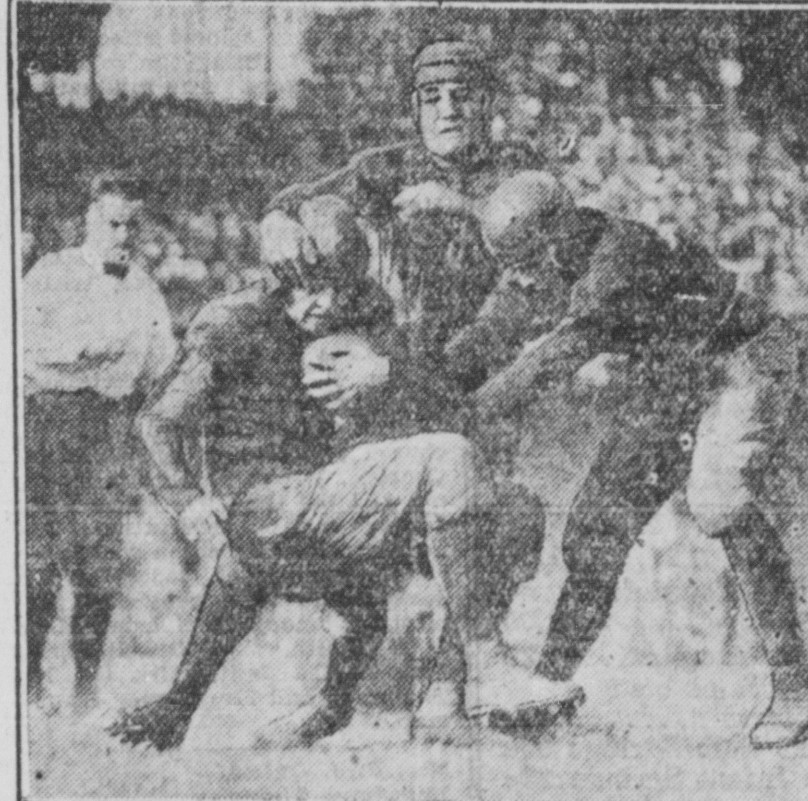

James T. Flower, vice president of the National Association of Horseshoe Pitchers, is due here from Akron, Ohio, early in November to take charge of the preliminary arrangements for the fifth annual national tournament scheduled for the week of Feb. 22.

Prizes to be awarded winners in the meet will be well over the $5000 mark.

Miss Florence North, attorney for Charlotte Mills, the daughter of the slain New Brunswick choir singer, was a boxing promoter before she entered the sensational murder case. Notes from the Big Ten Camps

ILLINOIS. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 9.—The University of Illinois football team in charge of Coach Bob Zuppke left tonight for Madison where the team will meet Wisconsin Saturday. Coach Zuppke was not over confident and said he would be satisfied to hold the score down in the contest with the Badgers.

Without the playing of Rune Clark at quarter and Woodward at fullback and with Pat Stolk, star of the Northwestern game still limping, Illinois' chances against Wisconsin at the latter's home-coming are not strong.

The drop kicking and passing of Steve Coutechie are to be relied upon greatly by the Illini. Emil Schultz was at full in today's scrimmage with Happenny and Melvain at the halves and Coutechie as pilot.

FARM BUREAU NOTES Does the Proposed New Constitution Abolish Township Assessors in Counties Under Township Organization?

The office of Township Assessor was not created by the Constitution of 1870 but by the General Assembly. The Constitution of 1870 and the Proposed New Constitution are identical in providing a machinery for valuing property and in both the office of township assessor is a statutory matter left to the General Assembly. However, the new Constitution does say in Section 170 "There shall be an assessor in each county to be selected as provided by law". The new Constitution merely creates a new county office. In creating the office of County Assessor it does not abolish the office of township assessor or prohibit the General Assembly from continuing the office of township assessor.

C. OF C. MEMBERSHIP MEETING TUESDAY

Traffic Problem Will be Discussed—Music Will be Feature of the Evening.

The next membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday evening, November 14. At this meeting the question of the traffic problem in the business district will be discussed. Music and several entertainment numbers will take up the first part of the program and the meeting will then be turned over to the traffic committee recently appointed by Mayor Crabtree.

There are twenty-one intersection committees consisting of three men each and the chairmen of these committees will make reports at the meeting. In addition to the intersection committees there is a general committee and also an advisory committee of five men, who will take part in the explanation of the traffic problem. Following the report of these committees there will be a general discussion and the public is invited to attend the meeting and to offer any suggestions along the constructive line of solving the traffic problem.

After the program and discussion there will be a refreshment and a smoker. It is hoped at this meeting to crystallize sentiment in some definite way so that the traffic problem can be satisfactorily worked out at an early date.

The next membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be two weeks from next Tuesday, November 28. The membership committee has been fortunate in securing for this meeting, Charles E. Woodward, president of the Illinois constitutional convention. This is the second meeting on the subject of the new state constitution to be held at the Chamber of Commerce.

The reason for the second meeting is that many people feel that only one side of the question has been presented. Mr. Woodward will come to Jacksonville prepared to answer any and all questions on the subject of new constitution, which any one may desire to ask. This will give an opportunity for all to gain a broad view of the question and form his own judgment as to the merits of the new constitution.

The meetings are to be held on the second floor of the Chamber of Commerce headquarters which is being fitted up for the membership meetings.

WHITE HALL PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Arrangements Completed for Observance of Important Anniversary—Parade to Be Main Feature.

White Hall, Nov. 9.—Arrangements for the observance of Armistice Day have been completed, according to Lieut. C. F. Wenken, commander of the local American Legion post, with the issuance of a proclamation by Mayor H. W. Roodhouse for the cessation of all activity from 10:59 a. m. to 11:01 a. m. in silent prayer over the conclusion of the armistice. The mayor also calls on business houses to close between the hours of 1:30 and 3 o'clock.

Armistice Day falls on next Saturday, and in connection with its observance in White Hall will be laid the corner stone of the Whiteside - Griswold Memorial Library. The ladies' auxiliary will serve dinner from 11:30 to 1 o'clock in the K. of P. hall to which all soldiers in uniform will be admitted free. At 2 o'clock a parade will form on North Main street north of Lincoln street. The parade will consist of floats of the educational religious and fraternal institutions and business houses, including the pupils of the schools. There will be cash prizes for the best decorated float and the most comely turnout.

The parade will move south on Main street to Carroll street east to Jacksonville street and thence north to Sherman street, a hall will be made at the new library building now under construction. Here a program will be carried out with Capt. Dean Cora as chairman, in which the White Hall band will give the opening selection, followed by a short address by William Russell of Bluffdale. While the band again plays the corner-stone will be laid by Mr. Seth N. Griswold, donor of the library structure, and the main address will be delivered by Chaplain Arthur Frederick Ewert of Chicago, concluding with the singing of the national anthem. Chairman Cora states that the exercises connected with the laying of the corner stone will be carried out with dispatch in order that there will be no unnecessary delay on account of the season being late for outdoor exercises.

At this time Chairman Cora will be prepared to announce that the grave of every veteran of the World War, with which the local post has to do, has been provided with a military marker or an approved application has been received from the quarter master general at Washington. This feature pertains more appropriately to Decoration day, but it is well to be stated at this time. The grave of James E. Fisher in the Belltown cemetery was marked this week. Other markers already are for the graves of Lieut. Edwin C. Edwards, John Moore, Oscar J. Hudspeth, Amos Walker, White Hall cemetery, and Tony Young, Pine Tree cemetery at Patterson, also Loyal G. Pinkerton and Roy Webb, White Hall cemetery. The latter has special significance. He was a member of Company L, 61st U. S. Infantry, and was blown to atoms by a bursting shell on October 14th, 1918. Three Clyde E. King, historian of the local post, the facts were ferreted out, and John A. Miller, grandfather of the deceased, now residing north of Roodhouse, has made provision for the erection of a stone to his memory in the White Hall cemetery. This action is most commendable. The boy was born and reared at White Hall and vicinity his birth occurring Sept. 12, 1895, son of Ed Webb, and the only son to his memory is the family lot in the White Hall cemetery, as the government could locate nothing to bury and mark as his last resting place where he met instant death in France. His father is located at Princeton, Iowa.

Home Service was established at the beginning of the World War to care for the dependents of service men. It developed a special technique in dealing with the problems of allotment and allowance, insurance, back pay, travel pay, and so forth. On Armistice Day we thought we saw the end of our job. We would have guessed that it might take a year to unravel all the remaining family problems and adjust the soldiers and sailors various entanglements with the government, and yet, here we are, at the end of four years, almost busy as at the peak of our road, and obliged to "Carry On" still further, with no definite end yet in view.

Home Service now concerns itself almost entirely with the disabled soldier. "The compensable man" so-called. On the one hand is the government, offering very generous provisions in the way of compensation for injuries, and retraining for the disabled man who is vocationally handicapped. On the other hand is the disabled man who not only knows nothing of these provisions which have been made for his care, but also is perfectly at a loss as to the method of procedure necessary to establish his claim to these provisions. Of necessity great care must be taken by the Veterans' Bureau, the agent of the government for caring for these claims, and it is necessary that proof of many kinds must be submitted to show, first, that the man, applying for compensation, has a disability of at least ten percent, and second, that this disability is of service origin.

The big job of the Red Cross is two-fold in relation to these two parties. In relation to the Veterans' Bureau it acts as an aid in securing for them the information which they require for the adjustment of the claim, explaining to the men the provisions made in each of their individual cases, and assists the Bureau in locating and making contact with the men. In relation to the men it acts as legal advisor, explaining to them the procedure for filing claim, prepares all claims, copies of discharge certificates, court records of marriage, birth, etc., advises them of the type of affidavit evidence required, and prepares the affidavits for them. When they receive notices and orders from the Veterans' Bureau they can have them explained at the Red Cross. Almost always it is necessary for the disabled man to go to a government hospital for observation and treatment, and the man appeals to the Red Cross to advise him and care for his family while he is away from home. When the claims are rejected, as they often are for lack of evidence, it is the duty of the Red Cross to assist the man to secure more, and better evidence, and above all to keep him from becoming discouraged and dropping the claim.

In short, the Red Cross must act as personal counselor of the men who are trying to establish a claim for compensation, and act as the personal agent for the Veterans' Bureau, which, although it is fulfilling its obligation to the best of its ability, cannot make personal contact with the millions of ex-service men, who are demanding, as is their right, assistance for them and their families. Until every ex-service man and his family has been given the proper attention the Red Cross

Why Red Cross is Busy So Long After the Armistice

In the experience of all Red Cross chapters engaged in Home Service work probably no questions are so frequently asked with a purpose of gaining information, as these: "Is the Red Cross still busy? Why nearly four years after the war?" Perhaps a statement of Home Service problems will help to solve these questions.

Home Service was established at the beginning of the World War to care for the dependents of service men. It developed a special technique in dealing with the problems of allotment and allowance, insurance, back pay, travel pay, and so forth. On Armistice Day we thought we saw the end of our job. We would have guessed that it might take a year to unravel all the remaining family problems and adjust the soldiers and sailors various entanglements with the government, and yet, here we are, at the end of four years, almost busy as at the peak of our road, and obliged to "Carry On" still further, with no definite end yet in view.

Home Service now concerns itself almost entirely with the disabled soldier. "The compensable man" so-called. On the one hand is the government, offering very generous provisions in the way of compensation for injuries, and retraining for the disabled man who is vocationally handicapped. On the other hand is the disabled man who not only knows nothing of these provisions which have been made for his care, but also is perfectly at a loss as to the method of procedure necessary to establish his claim to these provisions. Of necessity great care must be taken by the Veterans' Bureau, the agent of the government for caring for these claims, and it is necessary that proof of many kinds must be submitted to show, first, that the man, applying for compensation, has a disability of at least ten percent, and second, that this disability is of service origin.

The big job of the Red Cross is two-fold in relation to these two parties. In relation to the Veterans' Bureau it acts as an aid in securing for them the information which they require for the adjustment of the claim, explaining to the men the provisions made in each of their individual cases, and assists the Bureau in locating and making contact with the men. In relation to the men it acts as legal advisor, explaining to them the procedure for filing claim, prepares all claims, copies of discharge certificates, court records of marriage, birth, etc., advises them of the type of affidavit evidence required, and prepares the affidavits for them. When they receive notices and orders from the Veterans' Bureau they can have them explained at the Red Cross. Almost always it is necessary for the disabled man to go to a government hospital for observation and treatment, and the man appeals to the Red Cross to advise him and care for his family while he is away from home. When the claims are rejected, as they often are for lack of evidence, it is the duty of the Red Cross to assist the man to secure more, and better evidence, and above all to keep him from becoming discouraged and dropping the claim.

In short, the Red Cross must act as personal counselor of the men who are trying to establish a claim for compensation, and act as the personal agent for the Veterans' Bureau, which, although it is fulfilling its obligation to the best of its ability, cannot make personal contact with the millions of ex-service men, who are demanding, as is their right, assistance for them and their families. Until every ex-service man and his family has been given the proper attention the Red Cross will not have fulfilled its obligation which it took up itself when it became the duly authorized agent of the government to care for its soldiers, sailors, marines and their families.

SECOND OF FAMILY VICTIM OF TYPHOID

Una Yates, 12 Years Old, Follows Sister Within Two Days—Two Children Still Living May Recover.

The youngest of the family of Jacksonville colored people who were recently visited with four typhoid cases died at midnight Wednesday at Passavant hospital. Una Cleota Yates, 12 years old, the latest typhoid victim, died not two days after the demise of her sister, Mamie, aged 14. Her sister, Almata, 8 years old, was somewhat improved Thursday, and her brother, Cecil, at Our Saviors' hospital has been thought since Wednesday to have a chance for recovery.

Una Cleota Yates was born in Painesville, Mo., September 7, 1910. Her parents are William and Mary Lutitia Yates, who have lived at 502 South Church street for three years, coming here from Missouri. Besides the two deceased and the two in the hospital, Oscar, Jacksonville, and Leslie, Painesville, Mo., are also children of the family. The family attend Mt. Emory Baptist church.

The body was taken to the Gillham Funeral Home, where services were to have been held Thursday afternoon for Mamie. Arrangements are not yet complete, but it is probable that funeral services will be held at Kessinger, Mo., for both girls.

EXPRESSES THANKS
The majority given me at the election Tuesday is very gratifying and I want to express my appreciation to the men and women who gave me their support. As a member of the county board I will at all times seek to guard the interests of the people.

"A Good Neighbor and Faithful Friend."

Pledging support of the Annual Red Cross Roll Call and voicing its gratitude for the work of the American Red Cross for disabled ex-service men, the American Legion at its national convention in New Orleans adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, the American National Red Cross was during the War untiring and faithful in its service to the men of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps of the United States; and

"Whereas, since the Armistice in hospitals both abroad and at home the American Red Cross has provided for disabled service men the service and comforts that the Government of necessity is not able to furnish; and

"Whereas, the American National Red Cross has cooperated in every way with the Veterans' Bureau in seeking out and rendering assistance to disabled ex-service men entitled to care, training and compensation because of their disability; and

"Whereas, the American National Red Cross has been both during and since the War a good neighbor and faithful friend to the families and dependents of the men of the Army and Navy; therefore be it

"Resolved, That the American Legion in convention assembled voices its appreciation of the services rendered by the American Red Cross and in its turn heartily endorses the appeal that the American Red Cross is to make to the American public, beginning Armistice Day, through the Annual Membership Roll Call, for support in carrying out its splendid work; and be it further

"Resolved, That the American Legion hereby calls upon the service men of America to lend their influence and give their aid in whatever way possible in carrying through the Red Cross Roll Call to a successful completion."

GOOD PROGRESS MADE IN DEEP WELL TEST

Drill Now Down 645 Feet—E. J. Giffel of Ohio Oil Company Takes Hopeful View of Prospects.

E. J. Giffel of the Ohio Oil Company is spending a number of days in Jacksonville watching the drilling progress at the well on the Cleary farm that local business men are financing.

The drill is down to a depth of 645 feet. Mr. Rhodes, who is in charge of the operations, considers that good progress is being made, although there have been some unavoidable delays.

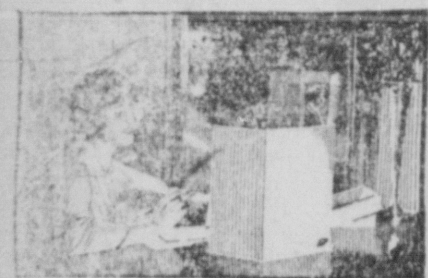

Now that the 600 foot depth has been reached, visits from oil men will be continuous, as they keep in touch with operations. The depth now is greater than that of any well ever put down in the locality where drilling is under way. Of course the artesian wells near Jacksonville are of far greater depth, but an accurate log of these wells is not available and they were never accounted as within the possible oil and gas area.

Mr. Giffel has been here several times in recent months but will remain now until the drill reaches the Trenton in the Cleary farm well. From the knowledge that Mr. Giffel has of the geological formations here about, he believes that the Trenton will be found at a depth of about 1300 feet.

Asked for his opinion as to the local oil and gas prospects, Mr. Giffel said last night that he would not be at all surprised if oil in good volume is found here at the lower depth. He said that he did not have much confidence in finding oil in paying quantities from the first sand, which is only 300' to 400 feet deep. In his opinion the drilling already made goes to prove that this sand will not produce oil in paying quantities.

With gas it is a different matter, and Mr. Giffel said that the Irwin well on the Harris farm is making a splendid showing. A few such wells, he said, would furnish a supply of gas with a definite commercial value.

The company Mr. Giffel represents is now drilling in the Indian Graves district near Quincy where there is an excellent prospect for oil. The location was made there after a geological survey and the expectation is to strike the Trenton rock at a depth of about 1300 feet. While this oil man does not claim to have an advance knowledge on the local possibilities, he thinks the showing here warrants further investigation of the field and thinks that there is much more than an even chance for worthwhile development.

AGED RESIDENT OF
MORGAN COUNTY DIES

Mrs. Mary Ann Henry Passed Away Thursday Night at Home of Daughter Near Nortonville—Lifelong Resident of County.

Mrs. Mary Ann Henry, an aged resident of the county, passed away at 8:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Story at Nortonville. Mrs. Henry had been in failing health for some time, her illness being due to the infirmities of age, and her death did not come as a surprise to relatives and friends.

The deceased was eighty-three years of age and spent all her life in this county. Her maiden name was Mary Ann Moreland, her parents having been numbered among the early residents of the county.

In early life the deceased was married to Samuel McCurley, who died a few years later. She later became the wife of J. K. Henry who preceded her in death a number of years since.

Mrs. Henry was for many years a member of the Youngblood Baptist church and was a woman of many admirable characteristics. Surviving are the following children: Mrs. Nannie Hayes of this city; Mrs. Alice Story of Nortonville; Mrs. Lillie Redford of Springfield; Mrs. Agnes Scott of Scottville; William McCurley, Decatur.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but will probably be held some time Saturday. Interment will be made in the Youngblood cemetery.

STATE GEOLOGIST
LOOKING OVER FIELD

D. M. Collingwood Here to Gather Data Which May Interest Oil Men—Comes at This Time Because of Deep Well Test.

There will be added interest in the local possibilities of oil and gas field because of the presence of D. M. Collingwood, geologist for the state Survey, and R. Quinlevan, an instrument man for the Survey, who accompanied him.

The two men arrived in Jacksonville yesterday and today will begin the work of making elevations in the area adjacent to the citizens' well on the Cleary farm northeast of the city and in the gathering of data which may be of value in connection with development of the field.

Mr. Collingwood at the direction of Mr. S. W. DeWolf, state geologist, has found time for a brief visit of inspection here. Mr. Quinlevan will remain for several days longer in his work running the lines.

The state Survey already has some information on file with reference to the drilling here and logs of the several wells have been furnished the Survey for record purposes. In event that data is collected here will be considered of interest to oil and gas men it will be printed in pamphlet form and sent out. This is a service the state performs not only with reference to oil and gas but in the case of any economic value.

Geologists do not attempt to definitely state where oil can be found but from a study of formations they are able to furnish data which will indicate the likelihood or the absence of oil. Even in the case of oil bearing sands, the oil will not be found in paying quantities unless the rock formations incline in such a way that the oil is held in basins or pools.

Mr. Collingwood said last night that workers for the Survey do not go in strong for publicity in connection with preliminary work in an area such as this, because no definite assurance can be given as to the results that will come.

As indicated, the purpose of the survey is merely to gather together such geological facts as may be obtainable and to furnish them as a part of the records of the state to persons interested.

It was several years ago that Mr. DeWolf of the Survey promised Frank Byrns that a survey would be made when sufficient interest was manifested by the citizens of the county. The recent action of business men in contributing to the deep well fund has no doubt been the means of securing attention at this time.

Mr. Byrns said yesterday that while subscriptions have been sufficient to pay for the drilling of the well it is dry that the subscription list is still open for persons who may wish to take stock to the amount of $50 or more.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT LYNNVILLE

More than usual interest attaches to the services at the Lynnville Christian church next Sunday. A basket dinner will be served in the church basement at noon, and all members and friends of the church are urged to come prepared to remain for this part of the day's program.

The Sunday school will be at the usual hour, followed by a song service and worship. The subject of the address will be "A Worker with God."

In the afternoon the service will begin at 2:30 o'clock, with an address by Rev. M. L. Pontius of this city. There will be no evening service.

PLEASING PROGRAM
AT NORTHMINSTER

A program of songs and recitations was given at Northminster church last night by pupils of the Sunday school class taught by Mrs. Vincent Vieira and Miss Leona Souza. The attendance was large and as a result the class was able to add about $15 to the fund which is to be contributed toward paying for the pavement adjacent to the church.

Sunday, Nov. 26, the people of Northminster are to make a special campaign to raise the entire fund necessary for the paving on Court and Fayette streets adjacent to the church. The various organizations of the church are now at work raising money to be contributed at that time.

WEATHERFORD LEADS
NORRIS BY ONE VOTE

OFFICIAL CANVASS SHOWS INTERESTING CONTEST FOR TREASURERSHIP

Friendly Recount Proceedings May Be Brought—Tuberculosis Tax Loses By Three Votes—Other Figures Available Today.

The election board finished the official canvass of the vote cast at the Tuesday election last night but the totals were not made except for the vote on the office of treasurer and tuberculosis tax. The official total gives W. H. Weatherford, Democrat, a majority of one over Harry Norris, Republican.

If the tuberculosis tax had received but four more affirmative votes authority would have given the county commissioners to levy a special tax of not more than one mill for the maintenance of the sanatorium. The total vote in favor of the proposal was 4,252, while the total vote against it was 4,253. The other totals will be made this morning.

Because of the close vote between the candidates for the treasurership, all ballot boxes were sealed with special care in the presence of witnesses. Clerk Riggs or a deputy remains constantly with the election papers and Mr. Riggs remained in his office throughout the night. This special care is in accordance with custom in such cases.

The unofficial returns indicated the election of Mr. Norris by a small majority. Because of the close vote County Clerk Riggs and his associates, Squires Whitlock and Opperman, constituting the election board, decided to go over the treasurership figures before attending to the rest of the canvass. As a result the very close final figures were revealed about noon.

Mr. Norris, Mr. Weatherford and several of their intimate friends watched the progress of the canvass. Because of this close figure it is entirely likely that contest proceedings calling for a recount will be brought by Mr. Norris. The poll books from district 14 were the last canvassed and one of these books credited Mr. Weatherford with 180 votes while a second book gave him 181. The record in one book was somewhat blurred and the election board in making the return to the secretary of state used the one showing the figure 181.

This is only one instance to indicate how very close the contest is between these two candidates. The relationship between the men is entirely friendly now, as it was in the pre-election campaign, and as indicated, it will likely take a recount to finally determine which one is justly entitled to hold the office for the next four years.

The most recent county election contest proceeding was that in which the late Peter Megginson and C. C. Berryman were parties. In this contest it was shown in one precinct that a rubber stamp had been used in placing the initials of the judge on the back of certain ballots, whereas the law requires that the initials shall be written. This circumstance was sufficient to throw out the vote in one precinct.

Yesterday morning as soon as it was known that the total showed a majority of one for Mr. Weatherford a demand was made on County Clerk Riggs by Walter W. Wright as attorney for Mr. Weatherford for a certificate of election. However, Mr. Riggs with the statement that he wished to be entirely fair to both parties, declined on advice of his attorney to issue the certificate until the canvass of all the votes had been completed.

Now the certificate will no doubt be issued to Mr. Weatherford on the basis of the election board's showing. This however, will not in any way prevent a contest being brought by Mr. Norris. Such a bill would be filed in the county court and a hearing would no doubt be had at an early date.

The expense of such a hearing and the length of time it would run would depend quite likely upon the charges made. If Mr. Norris simply asks for a recount of the ballots, alleging that election officers made certain errors, it would require but a few days for this work to be done. If in filing the bill irregularities were charged, and an effort made to declare certain votes cast illegally, that would be much more difficult matter and such a case would be likely to run for many weeks, with infinite possibilities as to the legal difficulties encountered.

As indicated above, the relations between Mr. Norris and Mr. Weatherford are entirely friendly and neither has the desire to hold the office unless he has received a majority of the votes. In view of these conditions, while a re-canvass of the vote cast for the two men may be made thru court procedure, it is not likely that a long drawn out contest will result.

ORGANIZE LOCAL TEACHERS' COUNCIL

Are Opposed to Recent Equalization Rule Adopted by Chicago School Board.

CHICAGO—A local teacher's council of the Woman's Party was organized here today at a meeting of teachers opposed to the recent "equalization" rule adopted by the school board. Leaders of the new organization, which will wage opposition against "all discrimination against women teachers," includes these: Miss Lillian Herstein of the Junior College, Miss Rose Cavana, Miss May Owen Kinsley representing elementary school teachers, Miss Genevieve Melody principal of Park Manor School, and Miss Florence Holbrook, principal of Forestville School.

"The secretary of the national teachers' council of the Woman's Party, Miss Anita Wood of Washington," said Miss Anita Pollitzer, national secretary of the Woman's Party, in addressing the meeting, "characterized the Chicago 'Equalization' rule as 'an alarm bell, warning the women teachers of the nation to safeguard the position they now occupy.' The rule provides that the merit rule shall not apply to prevent the appointment of men as high school teachers when the ratio of men to women makes such appointment desirable in the opinion of the board. Miss Pollitzer and other speakers said the issue involved the interests of all women teachers and advised women teachers to make common cause with women of other professions.

The following Chicago women will attend the national convention of the Woman's Party.

PRESERVING POLES COMMON PROBLEM

Officials of Illinois Bell Telephone Company Say Preservation of Fence Posts by Farmer and Telephone Poles By Company are Important.

CHICAGO—The farmer, in his effort to find means of lengthening the life of his fence posts, and telephone company engineers, in their efforts to prolong the use of telephone poles, have a common problem, says officials of the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

Nearly 15,000,000 poles are in use throughout the Bell system, enough to build a railroad trestle, thirty feet high, from Chicago to Buenos Aires. The report of one company engineer stated:

"Wood is composed of a multitude of minute elongated cells which lie side by side to form the wood structure. The surface of these cells are in contact with each other and are held firmly by a cement-like tissue.

"The decay of timber is caused by the activity of low forms of plant life, principally in the form of fungus threads, which feed upon and dissolve the walls of these wood cells.

"These organisms can grow either in light or darkness but all of them require certain amounts of air, moisture, heat and plant food, the latter being the wood itself. If one or more of these things is lacking the organisms cannot live and decay will not take place.

"The decay-producing fungi do not flourish in ordinary soils at a depth of more than about two feet, on account of the lack of air. Wood constantly under water does not rot because of insufficient air.

"Preservatives act antiseptically to kill the fungus growths and also are effective to some extent in preventing the entrance of moisture by plugging the pores of the wood."

are engaged and are not always able to give immediate attention to each caller. The customer who enters a Studebaker store cannot fail to see the sign which bids him welcome and cannot help but feel that here's a concern that wants him to experience that air of hospitality which is too often lacking in present-day merchandizing.

Every Studebaker dealer wants every customer and every possible customer to feel at home—welcome the minute he steps into any establishment where Studebaker cars are handled, whether he has come to buy or not.

"Welcome" is the strongest word of greeting in the English language, but it has been all but overlooked in the pressure of modern business. It remained for Studebaker to pick it up and put it to work and it is significant that Studebaker, the oldest name in the automobile industry, should have adopted it as an adjunct to the modern scheme of merchandizing.

"The public is welcome wherever Studebaker cars are sold," said E. W. Brown, Jr., local Studebaker dealer, who has recently installed one of these attractive signs, "and we want them to know it. The welcome which awaits the visitor to a Studebaker dealership promises to become as famous as the Studebaker slogan—'This is a Studebaker year' because one is just as true as the other."

NEW YORK CITY
USES MANY PHONES

CHICAGO. — (By Associated Press) — Telephones are used more extensively in New York City alone than in any foreign country with the exceptions of Great Britain and Germany, according to officials of the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

The telephone directory of that city is the largest in the world, the only other directory approaching it in size being that of Chicago.

Omaha, a city of slightly more than 200,000 population, has more telephones in use than the five largest cities in Italy, including Rome, Naples, Milan, Turin, and Palermo, with an aggregate population of more than 3,000,000. There are more telephones in use in Michigan than all of France.

The use of the telephone in Constantinople ceased to be a rarity only recently, a British private company now operating 8,000 telephones in that city. Operators must speak both Turkish and French, and many of them speak as many as seven of eight languages.

The total mileage of telephone wire in the world is 52,650,000 miles. Of this total the United States has 61 per cent, Europe has 28 per cent and 11 percent is divided among the nations in Asia and Africa.

LEAF RAKING DAY AT ILLINOIS COLLEGE

Students Raked Leaves From Campus—Raking Was Followed By Refreshments, a Program of Stunts and an Informal Dance.

Attired in overalls, blue shirts, and all sorts of old clothes, armed with rakes and full of energy the Illinois College students attacked the campus today and cleared it of its falling leaves. Annual Leaf Raking Day is always a big event on the Hill and yesterday proved no exception to the rule. The students turned out in an en masse and soon the task of raking the leaves was completed.

At the close of the afternoon the faculty and students gathered on the campus and when it grew dark the leaves were lighted. Then a fine supper was cooked over the huge bon fires and every one had his fill of sandwiches, coffee, baked beans, wieners and other good things to eat.

After a supper the crowd adjourned to the gymnasium and the program of stunts was given. This consisted of many clever and amusing stunts done by the freshmen boys and girls at the bidding of the upper classmen. These stunts mark the end of the rule of the Dorm and Hall Court for this year and from this time on the freshmen will be their own "bosses." After the stunts the remainder of the evening was devoted to an informal dance in the gymnasium.

START WORK ON NEW LABORATORY

CHICAGO. — (By Associated Press) — With the breaking of ground, work has been started on the new laboratory of the department of hygiene and bacteriology of the University of Chicago which, when completed, will be devoted to bacteriology and chemistry research.

The building will be of brick with a frontage of 110 feet and will contain a general laboratory, a laboratory devoted to the bacteriology and chemistry of water and foods, five research rooms, a room equipped with sterilizing devices and an animal room. The building will cost about $50,000.

Another structure to be added to the university group is a stone church for the Disciples' Divinity house, foundations of which already have been laid at Fifty-Seventh street and University avenue.

When completed, it will be one of three buildings grouped about a court, together, will cost about $200,000. The church, in perpendicular Gothic style, of grey and yellow limestone with Bedford stone trim, will have as a striking feature on University avenue, three large bays, with multilined windows.

The plans include an educational building to the east, connected with the chapel by a five-arched cloister, and to the north a refectory building.

Don't forget the candy sale and free entertainment at Brown's Business College Friday eve, Nov. 10. Everybody come.

ARTISTS MUST GET DOWN TO WORK

Chicago. — (By Associated Press) — Art is not all fairies, bright November woods and rock bound coasts, say instructors at the Art Institute of Chicago. Artists must get down to bone and muscle to succeed, they declare.

The successful artist must know about the femur and thigh bone, the clavicle and the frontal sinus, and he must know how the muscles and flesh lay upon these bones and how they flex and reflex under the stimulus of the will.

That is why skulls and other things usually associated with the study of medicine are sold at the school store of the institute. In this store are gathered all the marvels of the painter's art—dossels, palettes, brushes, oil and water colors, canvases, stretchers, sketchers, sketch pads, pencils, crayons, poppy oil, turpentine, drawing inks, charcoal, modelling clay and other mysteries of the hundred.

The store is maintained by the institute as a help to young students on their upward road to fame. Almost everything needed in the profession of painting or sculpture is carried on the store list.

SENIORS MUST GET HIGH GRADES

EVASTON, ILL.—By requiring seniors to attain an average grade of "C" which is between 70 and 80 percent, in all their work done during the four years of college as a requirement for graduation, Northwestern University with the opening of the current year has made the winning of a bachelor's degree a much more precarious feat here than formerly. Not only this but not more than one-fifth of the work may be below the grade of 70 percent.

The introduction of alertness tests for freshmen has blocked the entrance to Northwestern for some students, and now with the new requirements for graduation some seniors may find the exit also impassable. The campus, however, it said to favor the new ruling, providing certain modifications are made.

A third restriction provides that no student shall be graduated until his outstanding bills for purchases, or for contracts shall have been paid in full.

MAY GO BACK TO ALDERMATIC FORM

Rock Island.—Citizens of Rock Island are discussing a proposal to change back to the aldermatic form of government. The city has been under the commission form for a number of years. A citizens committee, recently called, a public meeting to discuss the matter. The call for the meeting put the committee members on record as convinced that "the present disgraceful crisis through which Rock Island is now passing would have been avoided under a more representative form of government."

HAPSBURG PROPERTIES BEING TURNED INTO CASH

VIENNA.—The liquidation of the vast Hapsburg holdings in Austria, with the exception of the possessions considered private, will be completed shortly, and the final report is expected to show the disposal of properties valued at many millions of crowns. Most of the funds realized through the sale and the leasing of former court buildings will be used for the benefit of war invalids.

The large reduction in territory now under the government of Austria has already diminished the amount of space required for administration purposes, and many blocks of office buildings have been rented to private individuals.

The possessions considered as private have been reduced to the minimum. Many personal presents made to former Emperor Francis Joseph, Empress Elizabeth, and the late Emperor Karl by foreign monarchs, Austrian cities and communities, were included in the sale. A large number of costly vases, clocks, pictures and china; the Czar's present of magnificent tables and vases of lapis lazuli, and works of art presented by the Emperors of China and Japan, were among the objects sold to foreigners, particularly Italians, who paid large amounts for their purchases.

The Old and New Court Palaces; the Court Stables; and a number of famous castles, villas and estates in the provinces were the principal buildings sold.

CRAZE FOR BOBBED HAIR STRIKES MEXICO

Mexico City.—Bobbed hair is now so popular in Mexico City that among young girls long tresses are considered unusual.

The craze for short hair was started several months ago when a number of young women who had been attending schools in the United States returned home. The idea became popular and, overriding the old belief that only women of doubtful morals wore their hair bobbed, it was not long before the younger set of the capital adopted it unanimously.

New Eyes for Old!

There are few avenues of public service more satisfactory in their personal reward than the restoration of clear vision to those whose sight is failing.

Glasses—scientifically adapted to ailing eyes often mean the renewal of visual youth; the effective removal of obstacles which not only result in discomfort but seriously handicap every activity to the joy of life.
